Pascale Presented with Player of the Week Title

Pascale's hard work and determination make him Cyclone Hockey's Player of the Week

Oct. 3, 2010 – Ames, Iowa - Cyclone Hockey is happy to present Jordan Pascale as Player of the Week. Pascale had one goal and two assists against Oklahoma and has consistently shown hard work on and off the ice.

Pascale has played in all six of the Cyclones games this season. With an assist and goal against the University of Oklahoma, Jordan's season point total is one goal and three assists. This is Jordan's fourth season with the Cyclones, and he is a superior leader. He is always the first to practice and last to leave.

An Aurora, Col. native, Pascale came to the Cyclones from the Dubuque Thunderbirds of the CSHL. Pascale is a senior in Mechanical Engineering and is an exceptional student.

Head Coach Dr. Al Murdoch is very impressed by Jordan's hard work. "Jordan is making his senior year the best year of his career at Iowa State. He is a good quiet leader on and off of the Ice and works extremely hard to excel not only at hockey but also at life."
