Jordan Pascale is Cyclone Hockey Player of the Week

Cyclone senior shows hard work and scores 6 points in 2 games

Feb. 7, 2011 – Ames, Iowa - Cyclone Hockey is pleased to award Player of the Week honors to Assistant Captain, Jordan Pascale, for the second time this season. Over the weekend sweep of Kansas, Pascale had six points, scoring one goal and dishing out five assists. Throughout his Iowa State career, Jordan has played in over 130 games, scoring 87 career points with 36 goals and 51 assists.

This is Jordan's fourth and final season with the Cyclones. He is currently an assistant captain, and is playing at a very high level. Jordan is setting a great example for his team, showing them excellent attitude and workmanship. Prior to joining the Cyclones, Jordan played for the Dubuque Thunderbirds. He is majoring in Mechanical Engineering and hails from Aurora, Colorado.

Associate Head Coach, Brian Wierson, commented on Pascale's weekend performance. "Jordan is displaying excellent leadership and hard work. His recent consistency is what has earned him the player of the week honors, as he is scoring and setting up his line mates."
